DR. W. KOEHLER,
Surgical & Mechanical Dentist,
Deutscher Zahnarzt,

TAKES PLEASURE in announcing to the citizens of Portland and vicinity that he is now permanently located in this city, and fully prepared to perform all the Operations belonging to the Dental Department in the most competent and professional manner, in Surgical Treatment as well as in the construction of ARTIFICIAL TEETH, in the newest and most improved methods, on the following materials:

GOLD, PLATINA, SILVER, RUBBER, AMBER, or CORALITE BASE,

at the option of the Patient.

The Extraction of Teeth by his method is now in any other, as the patient need not undergo the unpleasant, if not dangerous state of inhaling Chloroform, but will have his tooth extracted without that horrid pain which he generally dreads to the last endurable moment of suffering.

All operations warranted to give satisfaction, or no charge will be made.

Special attention paid to the regulation of children's teeth.

Difficult Dental Operations particularly solicited.

Ladies waited on at their residences if desired.

References of Physicians and Families given at the office.

Prices will be moderate in all cases.

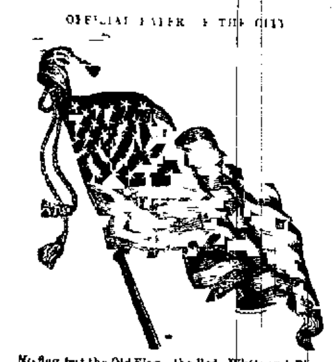
OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY



No flag but the Old Flag—the Red White and Blue,
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true
Arise and defend it [illegible] brave
Whose blood bought the banner your [illegible] must save

MONDAY MORNING DEC 8 1862

Admiral Wilkes.—The English papers are much worked up by the conduct of Admiral Wilkes, who commands the American squadron off the Bermudas. His appointment to that place after the capture of Mason and Slidell, is doubtless intended as a tacit defiance of the British maritime power. The activity of the obnoxious officer, in capturing the Anglo Confederate steamers engaged in the contraband trade to the Southern Coast, is his principal offence. The British authorities may ask his removal, and if they do, it will be another parallel to the fable of the wolves asking the sheep to send away the dogs

Friendly Criticism.—The New Haven, Connecticut, Palladium makes a very nice and correct distinction between the friendly criticism of a true Union man and the captious fault-finding of semi traitors in the subjoined paragraph

A true friend and a bitter foe will both criticise the acts of the administration, and if they see evils, will point them out. But the former does it, that the Government may avoid errors in future and merit the confidence of the people; the latter does it in order that the confidence of the people may be destroyed, and takes especial pleasure in dwelling upon those things which will most surely weaken the affection of the people for their rulers. The former discovers merits as well as faults, commends as well as criticises, encourages as well as warns; the latter sees only errors, talks only of mistakes, and rejoices only in blunders. The former desires the Government to prosper, and grieves over its misfortunes; the latter desires the Government to fail, and grieves only over its successes

Credit to Oregon.—The President of the Sanitary Commission Dr Bellows, speaks of Oregon's contribution to the Sanitary Fund in a letter to the New York Evening Post of the 4th of November, as follows

In the splendor of the gifts of California to the sick and wounded, through the Sanitary Commission, the noble sacrifices of distant Oregon must not be permitted to suffer eclipse. She has already sent over seven thousand dollars to the treasury of the Commission, and promises through Amory Holbrook of Portland, Oregon, to contribute still more. "Send us a victory," (for the loyal arms,) he writes, "and we will send you $25,000!" When we consider the penury, the paucity and the sparseness of the population of that young State, such liberality is really equal in dignity and significance to anything yet done for our cause. The widow's mite was worth all the gifts of the rich combined. Oregon's gift is not a mite—though a mite would have been Oregon's share. But the Columbia does not roll the proper name of our country through her wilderness without waking the patriotic blood that flows in the veins that thinly people its banks. Oregon's heart is warm and loyal. She stands a stern, faithful sentinel on the northwestern outpost! The Pacific Ocean allows neither meanness, inhumanity nor disunion to pollute her coast. The Western line of the continent is even truer than the Eastern. God bless noble, generous, faithful Oregon!

Respectfully yours
HENRY W BELLOWS, President

Threatened Retaliation.—The telegraphic news, a few days since, informed us that Jeff Davis had threatened retaliation for the summary execution of ten rebel guerrillas by the Union general, McNeil. The following, from a western exchange, throws light upon this subject—hitherto obscure

On Saturday, (October 17th,) Gen. McNeil ordered ten guerrillas to be shot at Palmyra, Mo., under the following circumstances. When the rebel Porter took Palmyra, among the prisoners was an inoffensive old man, named Allsman, for whom the guerrillas, for some unexplained reason, entertained a great dislike. All other prisoners captured by Porter were released but him, and nothing having been heard of him, it is supposed he was murdered by the out-laws. Soon after his capture, Gen. McNeil issued an order, which was published in the papers, to the effect that if Mr. Allsman was not released in ten days or his absence satisfactorily accounted for, he should cause ten of the prisoners in his custody to be shot. No response having been made, he selected ten who had already forfeited their lives by violation of parol, and caused them, as we have stated, to be shot

Calm Assurance.—A gentleman, of high character lately made an offer to a Southern minister of the Gospel to take upon himself the guardianship of a quadroon girl, of great beauty and superior mind. The Southern clergyman surrendered her over to the gentleman with many misgivings as to her fate, as her residence was to be in that "den of social monsters and abolition infidels," the city of Boston. He undoubtedly thinks that Arkansas possesses the true style of civilization, and that "her soul could not be safe among the Yankees"

A Plot Against New England.—"Carleton," the intelligent correspondent of the Boston Journal, describing an interview between Governor Morton of Indiana and Governor Yates of Illinois, says

Gov Morton expressed himself astonished at the stolidity of the Eastern States. There is a large party in the West—the Vallandigham party—who are bent upon breaking New England and the Middle States from the Union—to foster a spirit of hostility between the East and the West, and create a rupture which will prove fatal to the reconstruction of the Union except at the dictation of the South

Items

It is a paradox that [illegible] generally stick tight to a fellow than any other kind

The People's Party [illegible] have determined [illegible] Charles Francis Adams for the United States Senate, for the purpose of defeating Charles Sumner. [illegible] New England papers [illegible] that [illegible] Adams [illegible] not because they [illegible] but Sumner less

While Gen. B. M. Prentiss, of Illinois, was a prisoner at the South he says that he was treated with uniform [illegible] by the Confederate officers with the single exception of Col [illegible] Jordan, [illegible] Chief of [illegible] Beauregard's staff. [illegible] Jordan is the Captain Jordan formerly so well known in Oregon

A mother has invented a novel cure for profanity. She takes Castile soap and a tooth brush and cleans her son's mouth when she detects him in the use of improper language. The Country Gentleman quaintly remarks that, if the practice of this method of reformation becomes universal, a great advance in the price of soap will take place

The State of California has made a practice of receiving bids from the holders of her bonds for their surrender to the State Treasury on payment of their price in gold and silver. We notice the surrender of $18,000 at prices ranging from 93c to 98c, during the last week in November. At the same time the bonds were selling in San Francisco for 90a92c. This looks suspicious

Brigadier General Edwin Price, of the Confederate service—son of Gen Sterling Price—has returned to his allegiance to the United States, and to his home in Clarkton, Missouri. The return of his father would be hailed by acclamation in Missouri, and would be the cause of the entire prostration of the secession element in that State, where Gen Price was the popular idol before his connection with the Disunionists.

Thousands of soldiers' letters have been returned to the Dead Letter Office. Many of them have been written by men who have since perished in battle and the letters contain the latest authentic information that friends and relatives will ever receive of loved and lost ones. No provision has been made by the Post Office Department for their preservation or distribution, but a clerk of the Post Master General has volunteered to work off of office hours to assist in finding those who may be interested in them

A Connecticut paper contains exact information of a newly discovered copper mine. "In Nevada Territory a new copper mine has been discovered in Mariposa county which attracts much attention. The ore resembles the celebrated copperopolis vein, and is traceable several miles. The copper resources of California are already becoming important, and promise to be second to none but gold." — Mariposa county is in California, and Nevada Territory and California are two different communities, facts which the Connecticut paper appears to be ignorant of

The organization of new mining companies, in California, has reached an extent which would appear to indicate that the field of mining enterprise was entirely covered. But some original genius has discovered that the clam and oyster shells, and ocean shells and shell fish in general will furnish 90 per cent of copper. He proposes to extract the copper by galvanic currents. This process will improve the flavor of shell-fish, and oysters in particular. If this great enterprise is carried out we can call for de-copperized oysters or clams, and get them. The scheme sounds too much like one of A. Ward's "goaks," and is probably intended to cast ridicule on some of the mining corporations, whose schemes appear to be as wild as that of the Bolinas Bay Mussel Mining Company—for so the new company is to be called

No permanent organization has as yet taken place in either branch of our Legislature.—The Council, although there have been six members in town, has not been able to muster but three at any one meeting. Messrs. Bledsoe, Moore, and Simms have not arrived in town. As soon as these gentlemen make their appearance the Council will doubtless organize and get ready for work. The members present, or three of them at least, being candidates for the Presidency, are very much disinclined to move towards an organization until they can see clearly how the "cat is going to jump." The contest is waxing warm

In the House, on Tuesday, the committee on Credentials asked for further time to report, which being granted the House adjourned

On Wednesday, the committee on Credentials reported twenty-two members present and entitled to seats. A motion was made to adopt the report, pending which, the House adjourned.

There was an evident disposition on the part of most of the members to day, to effect a permanent organization, but in view of the absence of several members from east of the mountains, whose arrival is hourly expected, the House adjourned after adopting the report on credentials and listening to a little friendly sparring between Messrs. Reed, Bagley and others, on a motion made by the former, inviting the Secretary to administer the oath of office to the members present. The motion was finally withdrawn.

The number of candidates for the Speakership is increasing, and there is no telling how many there will be in a week's time if an organization is not sooner effected. A good deal of scheming and wire working is going on night and day, and we cannot yet say whose chances are best

If there was a spot near where kerosene was known to exist in any considerable quantities, and the numerous petty office seekers hereabouts would turn their attentions toward the earth and labor with that degree of assiduity that now characterize their political borings, what immense cargoes of that popular and almost indispensable fluid would soon await exportation from this point

The M. W. Grand Lodge of Masons of this Territory is still in session, but, we learn, will close its labors to day

The following officers have been elected for the ensuing year: M. W., I. M. Reed, Grand Master; R. W., Louis Sohns, Deputy Grand Master; R. W., John Webster, Senior Grand Warden; R. W., E. S. Fowler, J. W. Warden; R. W., James Biles, Grand Treasurer; R. W., J. M. McElroy, Grand Secretary; R. W., J. F. Damon, Grand Lecturer

We are informed that considerable business peculiar to the craft has been transacted and that the session was a harmonious one.

Humphrey Marshall's eldest son, Charles, was paroled twice and has never been either discharged from his parole or exchanged, and yet he is now in the rebel service. Humphrey's second son, John J., was paroled at Camp Chase, and he has neither been released from his parole nor discharged, yet he too is now in the rebel service.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN

LATER FROM THE EAST.

New York, Nov 30.—The Times' Falmouth correspondent says a rebel [illegible] which left on the 20th, went a portion of the way and returned [illegible] having acquired valuable information

Refugees represent the rebel army as very large, and say that Bragg has, without doubt, united his army with that of Lee. They also state Gen. Jackson will remain in the rear and continue to menace Washington during the winter

More entrenchments on Fredericksburg Heights are being brought to light to-day by the Signal Corps. They now number nearly fifty, many of them however are quite small, and [illegible] only one gun

Port Royal advices give an account of an expedition by a colored regiment to Darby Sound. The negroes are said to have behaved very commendably. The expedition brought back 200,000 feet of lumber. It was rumored at Port Royal that Beauregard had pronounced Charleston indefensible, and that the inhabitants were removing their property from that city

Quite a spirited little affair of engagement took place at Zune, on Blackwater, between two battalions mounted rifles, under Col. Dodge, and the rebels. Dodge drove them back from the river but having no orders to cross could not pursue the advantage. They had no artillery and our grape and canister troubled them considerably. They lost several men

Washington telegram says Secretary Seward looks upon the proposed mediation of the French Government as an act of a friendly power, simply to secure an interview between the belligerents, without prejudice to what they do afterwards. That to prevent the continuance of the war, or to exercise the least pressure upon either party, directly or indirectly, is in no manner expressed or hinted at in this document.

The army correspondent of the Philadelphia Enquirer says, "Daily, hourly, and in fact momentarily we expect to hear the first gun fired that will inaugurate the grand battle of this campaign."

Steamer Cambria, from New Orleans the 20th, has arrived. There were still a few cases of yellow fever at Houston, Texas, but the disease was not epidemic. General Butler is about to place overseers on the confiscated plantations to save the cotton and sugar. A large number of river boats have been armed as guerrillas infest the river banks below the city, one naval vessel had been fired into by them. No vessels unless well armed now leaves the city

Cairo, Nov 29th.—The Grand Army of the West is in motion. Gen Sherman with his forces, left Memphis Wednesday. Gen Grant's army struck their last tents yesterday and started off on the Holly Springs road; seven days rations were prepared and only one tent to twenty men and one to the officers of each company, with but six wagons to a regiment

Prisoners taken confess to the utter hopelessness of their cause in the West

Washington, Nov 29th.—A dispatch from Sigel's headquarters, says Jackson has passed through Salem, White Plains and Warrenton, probably on his way to join Gen Lee. Burnside arrived at Washington, and spent this morning in consultation with the President and Halleck. He returned to headquarters this evening.—Early yesterday, some rebel cavalry crossed the river some distance from here, evading our pickets, and made a descent on two companies of the 3d Pennsylvania cavalry capturing nearly all of them

New York, Nov 30th.—A Harper's Ferry dispatch states, Jackson moved towards Thoroughfare Gap on Thursday

New Orleans advices give glowing accounts of a Union meeting held there, Nov 15th. Resolutions were adopted endorsing Butler's rule and sustaining Lincoln's administration, and expressing hope of speedy opening of the Mississippi

St Louis, Nov 29th.—A train of 47 wagons containing commissary stores, was attacked by a party of rebels on its way from Rolla to Hartville. Five of the escort were killed and some wounded, but not without a spirited defense. The escort brought off 25 wagons; the balance were burned by the assaulting party

An Error.—The last two issues of the Pacific Christian Advocate contain portions of the Thanksgiving sermon delivered by the Rev. T. H. Pearne on the 27th ult. The issue of the 6th inst., in speaking of corruption in Government officials, says

"You have read the instance of the Senator from Connecticut, who in the most dignified and august legislative body in the world accepted bribes to the amount of scores of thousands of dollars. Did it not make your blood tingle that when this horrible infamy was brought home upon one of its members the body did not at once and indignantly expel him from their midst?"

Reference is evidently had to the case of Senator Simmons, of Rhode Island, who accepted a part of the profits on a contract for arms, at the commencement of the war. The strictures of Mr. Pearne are very just—he was not expelled—his time expired

CITY.

The MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City

LARGE APPLE.—We have been made the recipient of an apple of the [illegible] species, of the enormous size of 16 inches in circumference by measurement either way. It is the product of Benj. Alden's orchard—formerly [illegible]—on the Tualatin river—one mile above the crossing on the Boone's Ferry road to Salem. From this specimen of the growth of apples in that section it may be justly inferred that it is a good locality for orchards. We doubt whether the superior of this apple has been raised in Oregon.

FAVOR.—The thanks of the Oregonian office are due to Mr. and Mrs. J. Bergman who were yesterday married at the Jewish Synagogue in this city, according to the rites of their ancient religion, for a liberal supply of bride's cake and champagne. With the latter, the health of the newly married pair was drunk, with the sincere wish that their future may be as bright as they themselves could wish it.

PERSONAL.—Relf Bledsoe, Esq., Councilman for the Counties of Idaho and Nez Perces in Washington Territory, leaves for the Capital to-day. His constituents will have a faithful representative of their interests in him.

FIRE.—About 3½ o'clock on Saturday afternoon a small house on Second street, between Yamhill and Taylor, was discovered to be on fire. The entire Fire Department was on the ground in double quick time and the fire was extinguished with small loss.

"A POET."—The readers of the Times have been favored recently, doubtless at no small expense, with the poetical effusions of a love sick swain, who is evidently either trying to convince the public that he has the faculty for making words gingle, or attempting to beguile some unsuspecting bundle of crinoline within his grasp by his charming rhymes. We would suggest to our friend "Cheap John," across the way, to procure a copy of these productions and grind them through his "monkey organ" for the amusement of customers, as they are very drawing. Another instance of the truth of the old rhyme:

"Tisn't every one can be a poet
No more nor a sheep can be a go-at"

We have heard it suggested that Mr. "C. S. C." could better sustain himself in his old profession, "scraping feline intestines" and exhibit less non compus mentus evidence.

A MERITED COMPLIMENT TO GENERAL PRENTISS.—General Prentiss has received a dispatch from Gen. Halleck, tendering him his choice of the command of any brigade in the service. This is both generous and deserved, and we hope will be followed in due time by a Major General's commission, which Prentiss also deserves as much as any man who has been lately thus honored, and far more than some who have proved themselves unfit for the place. The General, we understand, will probably take a brigade under Rosencranz. He is a fighting man, and that is the kind of work suited to the temperament of General Prentiss.—Quincy Whig.

To Consumptives.—Every sufferer from Consumption in whatever stage, should try DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM, and prove to their own satisfaction that this disease can be cured, even if the symptoms are very discouraging. This medicine acts like a charm in allaying the Cough and restoring health to the whole system.

White's Fever and Ague Drops.—For the cure of AGUE, PANAMA FEVER, NEURALGIA and GENERAL DEBILITY.

This medicine has been used in private practice for many years with great success. Indeed in no instance has it failed to effect a speedy cure in Ague (especially) one bottle having been found sufficient in most cases, and in none are more than two bottles required.

A great number of testimonials could be given to verify these statements, but the proprietor prefers relying upon the merits of the medicine alone. A cure is guaranteed in nine cases out of ten.

Prepared only by ROBERT WHITE, Chemist and Druggist, Main street, Placerville, and Broadway, Upper Placerville. For sale by all respectable Druggists throughout the State.

White's Patent Lever Trusses. These instruments are recommended to the public as the best ever yet invented. The principle is new and different from any other. The Pad works over a Knuckle, giving it a direct lateral INWARD and UPWARD motion, thus being able to support the rupture with half the pressure required by other Trusses. The pain consequent upon heavy pressure is thereby avoided.

These instruments will not rust, and are the lightest, most durable and most cleanly of all others. They can be washed at pleasure. Many persons have been cured by them of ruptures of several years standing.

HAVING secured the services of Dr. C. H. MACK, formerly of New York city, and late of St. Louis, who is an experienced and skillful Dentist, I am now prepared to manufacture and insert Artificial Teeth by the following methods, namely: CONTINUOUS GUM, RUBBER, AMBER, PORCELAIN BASE, GUM [illegible] RUBBER ATTACHMENT, CHEOPLASTIC, [illegible] GUM, MICA and ENAMELED PLATE WORK. Some kinds of this work is recommended above all others, and needs but an inspection to prove its superiority for cleanliness, durability and life-like appearance to any artificial teeth in use.

Filling and cleaning teeth, and all operations in Dental Surgery, either mechanical, operative or surgical, performed in the most thorough and highly finished manner. None but the most permanent and finished operations performed, and no inducements to patients by low priced or roughly finished operations. I use no cement in filling teeth, and seek no price to make no competition with cheap Dentists, and desire the patronage of such persons only as wish their operations performed in the most perfect and skillful manner.

Operations that fail to give satisfaction need not be taken or paid for. Office hours from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M. Indigent persons who are unable to pay full professional charges will call before and after office hours. nov4 tf

OFFICIAL

TREATIES

[illegible] between the United States [illegible] and Venezuela [illegible] 1860 [illegible] 1861 [illegible] September 25th 1861

By the President [illegible]

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas a Treaty of Amity, Commerce and Navigation, and for the surrender of fugitive criminals between the United States of America and the Republic of Venezuela was concluded and signed at Caracas on the twenty-seventh day of August, one thousand eight hundred and sixty, which Treaty, being in the English and Spanish languages, is word for word, as follows:

The United States of America and the Republic of Venezuela, equally animated with the desire of maintaining the cordial relations and of tightening, if possible, the ties of friendship between the two countries, as well as to augment by all the means at their disposal, the commercial intercourse of their respective citizens, have mutually resolved to conclude a general convention of amity, commerce and navigation, and for the surrender of fugitive criminals. For this purpose they have appointed as their plenipotentiaries, to wit: the President of the United States, Edward A. Turpin, Minister Resident near the Government of Venezuela, and the President of Venezuela, Pedro de Las Casas, Secretary of State in the Department of Foreign Relations, who after a communication of their respective full powers, have agreed to the following articles:

Article I. It is the intention of the high contracting parties that there shall continue to be a firm, inviolable, and universal peace, and a true and sincere friendship between the Republics of the United States of America and Venezuela, and between their respective countries, territories, cities, towns, and people, without exception of persons or places. If unfortunately, the two nations should become involved in war, one with the other, the term of six months after the declaration thereof shall be allowed to the merchants and other citizens and inhabitants respectively, on each side, during which time they shall be at liberty to withdraw themselves, with their effects and movables, which they shall have the right to carry away, send away, or sell, as they please, without the least obstruction; nor shall their effects, much less their persons, be seized during such term of six months; on the contrary, passports shall be valid for a term necessary for their return, and shall be given to them for their vessels and the effects which they may wish to carry with them or send away, and such passports shall be a safe conduct against the insults and captures which privateers may attempt against their persons and effects; and the money, debts, shares in the public funds, or in banks, or any other property, personal or real, belonging to the citizens of the one party in the territories of the other shall not be confiscated or sequestrated.

Article II. The citizens of each of the high contracting parties, residing or established in the territory of the other, shall be exempt from all compulsory military service by sea or by land, and from all forced loans or military exactions or requisitions; nor shall they be compelled to pay any contributions whatever higher or other than those that are or may be paid by native citizens.

Article III. The citizens of the contracting parties shall be permitted to enter, sojourn, settle, and reside in all parts of said territories, and such as may wish to engage in business shall have the right to hire and occupy warehouses, provided they submit to the laws, as well general as special, relative to the rights of travelling, residing, or trading. While they conform to the laws and regulation in force, they shall be at liberty to manage themselves their own business, subject to the jurisdiction of either party, as well in respect to the consignment and sale of their goods by wholesale or retail, as with respect to the loading, unloading, and sending off their ships. They may also employ such agents or brokers as they may deem proper, and shall in all these cases be treated as the citizens of the country wherein they reside, it being nevertheless distinctly understood that they shall be subject to such laws and regulations also in respect to wholesale or retail. They shall have free access to the tribunals of justice, in cases to which they may be a party, on the same terms which are granted by the laws and usage of the country to native citizens; for which purpose they may employ in defence of their interests and rights such advocates, attorneys, and other agents as they may think proper.

Article IV. The citizens of each of the high contracting parties, residing in the other, shall enjoy the most perfect liberty of conscience. They shall be subject to no inconveniences whatever on account of their religious belief. Nor shall they in any manner be annoyed or disturbed in the exercise of their religious worship in private houses, or in the chapels and places which they may select for that purpose, provided that, in so doing, they observe the decorum due to the laws, usages, and customs of the country. It is likewise agreed that the citizens of the one country dying in the territory of the other, may be interred either in the ordinary cemeteries, or in such others as may be selected for that purpose by their own government, or by their personal friends or representatives, with the consent of the local authorities. All such cemeteries, and funeral processions going to or returning from them, shall be protected from violation or disturbance.

Article V. The citizens of each of the high contracting parties, within the jurisdiction of the other, shall have power to dispose of their personal property by sale, donation, testament, or otherwise; and their personal representatives, being citizens of the other contracting party, shall succeed to their personal property, whether by testament or ab intestato. They may take possession thereof, either by themselves, or by others acting for them, at their pleasure, and dispose of the same, paying such duty only as the citizens of the country wherein the said personal property is situated, shall be subject to pay, in like cases. In the absence of a personal representative, the same care shall be taken of the property as by law would be taken of the property of a native in a similar case whilst the lawful owner may take measures for securing it. If a question should arise among claimants as to the rightful ownership of the property, the same shall be finally decided by the judicial tribunals of the country in which it is situated.

When on the decease of any person holding real estate within the territory on one party, such real estate would be by the law of the land descend on a citizen of the other were he not disqualified by alienage, the longest term which the laws of the country in which it is situated will permit shall be accorded to him to dispose of the same, nor shall he be subjected, in doing so, to higher or other dues, than if he were a citizen of the country wherein such real estate is situated.

Article VI. The high contracting parties hereby agree that whatever kind of produce, manufactures, or merchandise of any foreign country can be, from time to time, lawfully imported into the United States in their own vessels, may also be imported in the vessels of Venezuela, and no higher or other duties upon the tonnage or cargo of the vessels shall be levied or collected, whether the importation be made in a vessel under the flag of the United States or a vessel under the flag of Venezuela. And reciprocally whatever kind of produce, manufactures or merchandise of any foreign country can be, from time to time, lawfully imported into Venezuela in her own vessels, may also be imported in vessels of the United States, and no higher or other duties upon the tonnage or cargo of the vessel shall be levied or collected, whether the importation be made in a vessel under the flag of Venezuela, or under the flag of the United States.

Whatever can be lawfully exported or re-exported by one party in its own vessels, to any foreign country, may in like manner be exported or re-exported in the vessels of the other, and the same duties, bounties, and drawbacks shall be collected and allowed, whether such exportation or re-exportation be made in vessels of the one or the other. Nor shall higher or other charges of any kind be imposed in the ports of one party on vessels of the other, than are or shall be payable in the same ports by national vessels.

Article VII. The preceding article is not applicable to the coasting trade of the contracting parties, which is respectively reserved by each exclusively for its own citizens.

But vessels of either country shall be allowed to discharge a part of their cargoes at one port, and proceed to any other port or ports in the territories of the other to discharge the remainder, without paying higher or other port charges or tonnage dues than would be paid by national vessels in such cases, so long as this liberty shall be conceded to any foreign vessels by the laws of both countries.

Article VIII. For the better understanding of the preceding stipulations it has been agreed that every vessel belonging exclusively to a citizen or citizens of Venezuela, and whose captain is also a citizen of the same, such vessel having also complied with all the other requisites established by law to acquire such national character, though the [illegible] foreign shall [illegible]

Article IX. No [illegible] higher or other duties shall be imposed on the importation into the United States of any article the growth, produce or manufacture of Venezuela [illegible] the growth, produce or manufacture [illegible]

No [illegible] shall be [illegible] on the importation [illegible] of any article the growth, produce or manufacture [illegible] the United States [illegible] Venezuela [illegible] the exportation [illegible] to the United States [illegible]

No prohibition shall be imposed upon the importation of any article the growth, produce or manufacture of the United States, or of Venezuela, into their respective territories [illegible] which shall not equally extend to every other foreign country. If, however, either party shall hereafter grant to any other nation any particular favor in navigation or commerce, it shall immediately become common to the other party, freely, [illegible] the grant and [illegible]

Article X. [illegible] of the high contracting parties hereafter may [illegible] discriminating [illegible] in the ports of any other nation [illegible] the other party shall be at liberty to determine the manner of establishing the origin of its own products intended to enter the country by which [illegible] discriminating duties [illegible]

Article XI. When any vessel of either party shall be wrecked, stranded or otherwise damaged on the coasts or within the jurisdiction of the other, their respective citizens shall receive as well for themselves as for their vessels and effects the same assistance which would be due to the inhabitants of the country where the accident happened, and they shall be liable to pay the same charges and dues of salvage as the said inhabitants would be liable to pay in a like case.

If the repairs which a stranded vessel may require shall render it necessary that the whole or any part of her cargo should be unladed, no duties of custom, charges or fees on such cargo as may be carried away shall be paid, except such as are payable in like cases by national vessels.

It is understood, nevertheless, that if while the vessel is under repair, the cargo shall be unladen and kept in a place of deposit destined for the reception of goods the duties on which have not been paid, the cargo shall be liable to the charges and fees lawfully due to the keepers of such warehouses.

Article XII. It shall be lawful for the citizens of either country to sail with their ships and merchandise, (contraband goods always excepted,) from any port whatever, to any port of the enemy of the other, and to sail and trade with their ships and merchandise, with perfect security and liberty from the countries, ports, and places of those who are enemies of either party, without any opposition or disturbance whatsoever, and to pass not only directly from the places and ports of the enemy aforementioned to neutral ports and places but also from one place belonging to an enemy to another place belonging to an enemy, whether they be or be not under the jurisdiction of the same Power, unless such ports or places be effectively blockaded, besieged, or invested.

And whereas it frequently happens that vessels sail for a port or place belonging to an enemy without knowing that the same is either besieged, blockaded, or invested, it is agreed that every vessel so circumstanced may be turned away from such port or place, but she shall not be detained, nor any part of her cargo, (if not contraband,) be confiscated, unless, after notice of such blockade or investment, she shall again attempt to enter; but she shall be permitted to go to any other port or place she shall think proper, provided the same be not blockaded, besieged, or invested. Nor shall any vessel of either of the parties that may have entered into such port or place, before the same was actually besieged, blockaded, or invested by the other, be restrained from quitting such place with her cargo, nor, if found therein after the reduction and surrender of such place, shall such vessel or her cargo be liable to confiscation, but they shall be restored to the owners thereof.

Article XIII. In order to regulate what shall be deemed contraband of war there shall be comprised under that denomination gunpowder, saltpetre, petards, matches, balls, bombs, grenades, carcasses, pikes, halberds, swords, belts, pistols, holsters, cavalry saddles and furniture, cannons, mortars, their carriages and beds, and generally all kinds of arms, ammunition of war, and instruments fit for the use of troops; all the above articles, whenever they are destined to the port of an enemy, are hereby declared to be contraband, and just objects of confiscation, but the vessel in which they are laden, and the residue of the cargo shall be considered free and not in any manner infected by the prohibited goods, whether belonging to the same or a different owner.

Article XIV. It is hereby stipulated that free ships shall give a freedom to goods and that everything shall be deemed free and exempt which shall be found on board the ships belonging to the citizens of either of the contracting parties, although the whole lading, or any part thereof, should appertain to the enemies of either, contraband goods being always excepted. It is also agreed in like manner, that the same liberty be extended to persons who are on board a free ship, with this effect, that although they be enemies to either party, they are not to be taken out of that free ship unless they are soldiers, and in actual service of the enemy.

Article XV. In time of war the merchant ships belonging to the citizens of either of the contracting parties which shall be bound to a port of the enemy of one of the parties, and concerning whose voyage and the articles of their cargo there shall be just grounds of suspicion, shall be obliged to exhibit, as well upon the high seas as in the ports or roads, not only their passports but likewise their certificates, showing that their goods are not of the quality of those which are specified to be contraband in the thirteenth article of the present convention.

Article XVI. And that captures on light suspicions may be avoided and injuries thence arising prevented, it is agreed that when one party shall be engaged in war and the other party be neutral, the ships of the neutral party shall be furnished with passports, that it may appear thereby that the ships really belong to the citizens of the neutral party; they shall be valid for any number of voyages, but shall be renewed every year—that is, if the ship happens to return home in the space of a year. If the ships are laden they shall be provided, not only with the passports above mentioned but also with certificates, so that it may be known whether they carry any contraband goods. No other paper shall be required, any usage or ordinance to the contrary notwithstanding. And if it shall not appear from the said certificates that there are contraband goods on board, the ships shall be permitted to proceed on their voyage. If it shall appear from the certificates that there are contraband goods on board any such ship, and the commander of the same shall offer to deliver them up, the offer shall be accepted and a receipt for the same shall be given and the ship shall be at liberty to pursue its voyage unless the quantity of the contraband goods be greater than can conveniently be received on board the ship of war or privateer, in which case, as in all other cases of just detention, the ship shall be carried to the nearest safe and convenient port for the delivery of the same.

If any ship shall not be furnished with such passport or certificates as are above required for the same, such case may be examined by a proper judge or tribunal, and if it shall appear from other documents or proofs, admissible by the usage of nations, that the ship belongs to the citizens or subjects of the neutral party, it shall not be confiscated, but shall be released with her cargo, (contraband goods excepted,) and be permitted to proceed on her voyage.

If the master of a ship named in the passport should happen to die, or be removed by any other cause, and another put in his place, the ship and cargo shall, nevertheless, be equally secure, and the passport remain in full force.

Article XVII. If the ships of the citizens of either of the parties shall be met with on the high seas by any ship of war or privateer of the other, for the avoiding of any disorder, the said ship of war or privateer shall remain out of cannon shot, and may send their boats on board the merchant ship which they shall so meet with, and may enter her to the number of two or three men only, to whom the master or commander of such ship shall exhibit his passport concerning the property of the ship; and it is expressly agreed that the neutral party shall in no case be required to go on board the examining vessel for the purpose of exhibiting his papers, or for any other examination whatever.

Article XVIII. It is expressly agreed by the high contracting parties that the stipulations above mentioned, relative to the conduct to be observed on the sea by the cruisers of the belligerent party towards the ships of the neutral party, shall be applicable only to ships sailing without convoy, and when the said ships shall be convoyed [illegible] the [illegible]

Article XXIII. When the ships of war of the two contracting parties, or those belonging to their citizens which are armed in war, shall be admitted to enter with their prizes the ports of either of the two parties, the said public or private ships, as well as their prizes, shall not be obliged to pay any duty either to the officers of the place, the judges or any others; nor shall such prizes, when they come to and enter the ports of either party, be arrested or seized, nor shall the officers of the place make examination concerning the lawfulness of such prizes [illegible] they may [illegible] to the [illegible] express [illegible] ships [illegible] It is understood, however, that the [illegible] by this article shall not extend [illegible] by law or by treaty with them [illegible]

Article XXIV. It shall not be lawful for any foreign privateers who have commissions from any prince or State in enmity with either nation to fit their ships in the ports of either, to sell their prizes, or in any manner to exchange them; neither shall they be allowed to purchase provisions, except such as shall be necessary to their going to the next port of that prince or State from which they have received their commissions.

Article XXV. No citizen of Venezuela shall apply for or take any commission or letters of marque for arming any ship or ships to act as privateers against the said United States, or any of them, or against the citizens, people, or inhabitants of the said United States, or any of them, or against the property of any of the inhabitants of any of them, from any prince or State with which the said United States shall be at war; nor shall any citizen or inhabitant of the said United States, or any of them, apply for or take any commission or letters of marque for arming any ship or ships to act as privateers against the citizens or inhabitants of Venezuela, or any of them, or the property of any of them, from any prince or State with which the said Republic shall be at war; and if any person of either nation shall take such commission or letters of marque he shall be punished according to the respective laws.

Article XXVI. The high contracting parties grant to each other the liberty of having in the ports of the other consuls or vice-consuls of their own appointment, who shall enjoy the same privileges and powers as those of the most favored nation; but if any of the said consuls or vice-consuls shall carry on trade, they shall be subjected to the same laws and usages to which private individuals of their nation are subjected in the same place.

It is understood that whenever either of the two contracting parties shall select a citizen of the other for a consular agent to reside in any of the ports or commercial places of the latter, such consul or agent shall continue to be regarded, notwithstanding his quality of a foreign consul, as a citizen of the nation to which he belongs, and consequently shall be subject to the laws and regulations to which natives are subjected in the place of his residence. This obligation, however, shall in no respect embarrass the exercise of his consular functions or affect the inviolability of the consular archives.

The said consuls and vice-consuls shall have the right, as such, to sit as judges and arbitrators in such differences as may arise between the masters and crews of the vessels belonging to the nation whose interests are committed to their charge without the interference of the local authorities, unless their assistance should be required, or the conduct of the crews or of the captain should disturb the order or tranquillity of the country. It is, however, understood that this species of judgment or arbitration shall not deprive the contending parties of the right they have to resort, on their return, to the judicial authority of their own country.

The said consuls and vice-consuls are authorized to require the assistance of the local authorities for the arrest and imprisonment of the deserters from the ships of war and merchant vessels of their country. For this purpose they shall apply to the competent tribunals, judges, and officers, and shall in writing demand such deserters, proving by the exhibition of the registers of the vessels, the muster rolls of the crews, or by any other official documents that such individuals formed part of the crews; and on this claim being substantiated, the surrender shall not be refused. Such deserters, when arrested, shall be placed at the disposal of the consuls and vice-consuls, and may be confined in the public prisons at the request and cost of those who shall claim them, in order to be sent to the vessels to which they belong, or to others of the same country. But if not sent back within three months from the day of their arrest they shall be set at liberty, and shall not again be arrested for the same cause. However, if the deserter shall be found to have committed any crime or offense, his surrender may be delayed until the tribunal before which his case shall be pending shall have pronounced its sentence, and such sentence shall have been carried into effect.

Article XXVII. The United States of America and the Republic of Venezuela, on requisitions made in their name through the medium of their respective diplomatic and consular agents, shall deliver up to justice persons who, being charged with the crimes enumerated in the following article, committed within the jurisdiction of the requiring party, shall seek an asylum or shall be found within the territories of the other: provided, that this shall only be done when the fact of the commission of the crime shall be so established as that the laws of the country where the fugitive or person so accused shall be found would justify his or her apprehension and commitment for trial if the crime had been there committed; and all [illegible] tribunals [illegible] country [illegible] according to their own laws.

Article XXVIII. Persons shall be [illegible] the provisions of this convention [illegible] charged with any of the following crimes [illegible] murder [illegible] attempt [illegible] material [illegible]

Article XXIX. On the part of each country the surrender shall be made only by the authority of the executive thereof [illegible] cost of the party making the requisition [illegible]

Article XXX. The provisions [illegible] relating to the surrender of fugitive criminals [illegible] political character [illegible]

Article XXXI. This convention is to [illegible] term of twelve years [illegible] in the [illegible] of the contracting parties shall have given notice [illegible] binding for twelve months [illegible] year, until the expiration of the twelve months which will follow a similar declaration whatever the time at which it may take place.

Article XXXII. This convention [illegible] ratified [illegible] competent authorities [illegible] shall be exchanged [illegible] as soon as circumstances shall admit.
